Though GET annual capacity had been contracted with customers, as downstream customers have inventories, we support them for not taking products and digest inventories first. GET as long-term partner is supporting customers by lowering wafer pricing, at the same time to re-negotiate aggressively with poly suppliers and reduce poly cost. GET is running in-house capacity with utilization around 80%.

GET is inevitably impacted by the solar industry downturn. Yet we believe that the industry should have an upturn back after the inventories are well digested in the coming months. GET will keep monitoring closely the trend to catch up business when market bumps up, and try every effort to make profit still.
